Summary. Canadians are facing growing financial struggles because of an unfair, oppressive government that uses fake currency. Our country is at a turning point, and every person must choose how to respond. Problems like unfair economic practices, eroding freedoms, and lower quality of life all come from one main issue: fake currency. This essay explains how Canada can move from a fake currency system to a real money system. This change starts with each person. It gives citizens more power, brings back control to WE THE PEOPLE, and builds a society based on honesty and responsibility.

Three key ideas are covered:

- 1) Moving from politicians who take money to Guardians who protect us,
- 2) Changes we all agree on that restore truth, freedom and accountability, and
- 3) How good government returns when we take responsibility for our community and country.

EXTRACTION vs. PROTECTION

In the fake currency system, politicians steal wealth through taxes, rules and currency that loses value. They make currency less valuable to fund government spending without limits. This creates a cycle where government grows too powerful, taking away rights like free speech, property ownership and financial freedom.

Under a real money system, new leaders called Guardians protect freedom and rights. They guard natural, cultural and economic resources without stealing from people. Guardians enforce simple, clear rules that protect basic freedoms. Real money cannot be made up by the government, which keep spending under control and allows people to save, invest and trade freely. Government's role becomes smaller and is limited to handling community infrastructure and protection from threats inside and outside the country.

TRUTH, LIBERTY & ACCOUNTABILITY

The government only has power because the citizens grant it. Our rights are not given by government; they are God given and come with us at birth. Government exists to protect these rights, not control or harm us. When government becomes too oppressive, the citizens must act to fix it. By working together, Canadians can force changes that put power back in our hands and stop government from taking money or violating rights without being held accountable.

Three changes we must make:

- 1) Restore Truth: End currency inflation by adopting a real money system. This cuts government size, makes life cheaper for everyone and encourages saving.
- 2) Restore Liberty: End income tax, property tax, capital gains tax and carbon taxes. Canadians deserve to keep what they earn, own property, and avoid unfair taxes that take 30-50% of their income.
- 3) Restore Accountability: Create a special team to track every tax dollar spent since 2010 and investigate politicians who broke trust. Build a court system free from political influence to punish politicians who commit fraud or treason. Support covid19 trials (modern day Nuremburg trials) to hold high ranking political officials accountable for crimes committed against citizens.

CIVIC DUTY

Our path to freedom starts with taking personal responsibility through civic duty. Civic duty means doing what we owe our community and country to keep society working well. Change won't happen unless citizens take responsibility and act to make needed changes. Fake currency that government can print is like a cancer within our country and must use our power to stop it. By using real money instead of fake currency, citizens reclaim their power and restore truth, freedom and justice in Canada.

Freedom means not being controlled by strict rules or unfair taxes. Justice means applying laws fairly, without privilege or prejudice so people get what they deserve. Under fake currency systems, government has grown too powerful, destroyed freedom and corrupted justice. We have a duty to act in order to end the cycle of corruption and harm that has hurt our country for 15 years. We must claim our power and make changes that fix our situation. Saving in real money protects our time and energy while building wealth that won't lose value to inflation. This simple permissionless action limits government power and restores balance. By coordinating through local groups, educating our communities, and informing political representatives about needed changes, we regain control and make real progress.

Civic duty involves sharing knowledge with others, supporting leaders who act with integrity, and relentlessly advocating for truth. Personal responsibility begins with learning about money and choosing to save in real money that can't be inflated, censored or stolen through taxes. By working together and adopting unstoppable protocols like Bitcoin and Nostr, we become capable of peacefully ending tyranny. As we unite, we build a Canada where responsibility creates more wealth and brings back truth, freedom and justice by cutting taxes while making sure government fixes the harm it caused over the past 15 years.

Call To Action. We urge every Canadian to save in real money and we call on strong Canadian men of God to join the Canadian National Guard. If we don't act, we risk losing freedom forever. Together, WE THE PEOPLE can fix our country. Share this essay with friends, family and online. Email it or post it on social media.
